

Message from Prof. Lubna A. Baig

Dear students and colleagues,

Wish you and your family a safe, happy and prosperous new year – 2018!

Year 2017 is closing and 2018 will soon start. This year has been a challenging year for us considering the struggles we had to go through for program approvals and the first convocation of JSMU. Alhamdulillah we have achieved most of our targets set for 2017.

I want to assure you that AIPH and JSMU are in good position in the academic world and progress to date has been significantly above the expectations. The research projects at AIPH have grown significantly with national and international grants. The team at AIPH and JSMU has put up sincere and extensive hard work in making a prestigious place in the academic world.

Faculty and students are the biggest asset for an organization and I am proud to say that at AIPH we have well-educated and experienced professionals who are dedicated to the cause of public health. I have no doubt that AIPH and JSMU's experienced team will soon position this university at a competitive edge in the international community.

Lets together look forward to an exciting 2018.

Please give way to ambulances as it is a matter of life and death and drive safe.
